Will Peiping Comply? U. S. Officials Consider Chinese Entry into Talks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (UPI)—U. S. officials said today the Kennedy administration was considering when and how to bring Communist China into the next round of general disarmament talks.

Included was the problem of how to make sure that Peiping would comply with any nuclear test ban agreement concluded by the present big nuclear powers—Russia, Britain and the United States.

ON BOTH THESE disarmament fronts, there were indications that Red China might hold out for United Nations membership as its price for cooperation.

The atomic test ban talks, resuming March 21 in Geneva, are almost certain to be confined to the three present nuclear powers, American officials said.

CURRENT U. S. disarmament studies are concentrating on test ban policy.

Officials said the Kennedy administration would not be ready with an over-all disarmament program to present in general arms-control talks until late this summer at the earliest.

AIDES EMPHASIZED that Secretary of State Dean Rusk did not go beyond long-standing U. S. policy on disarmament in what he said at his news conference Monday about Red China.

Former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said last year that any workable arms-control plan would require Chinese Communist participation, and it would be "logical" to invite Red China to join the general disarmament negotiations if and when an agreement appeared to be in sight.

The Kennedy Administration has made clear that it will not agree to ousting Nationalist China from the United Nations and seating Peiping in its place.

Y Theatre to Feature 'Diary of Anne Frank'

The dramatization of a diary kept by a teen-aged Jewish girl during World War II in Amsterdam, Holland, will be presented at Brigham Young University, Feb. 15-18.

"The Diary of Anne Frank," a major BYU Theatre production, is being directed by Dr. Preston R. Gledhill, associate professor of speech.

ANNE was the youngest of a group of eight Jews who for two years lived secretly in a cramped attic over a warehouse to escape the German Gestapo. The Gestapo was then engaged in searching out Jews and shipping them to concentration camps.

Anne's father and mother, a sister, another couple and their son and a middle age dentist also lived in the attic.

THE PLAY, which has won the Antoinette Perry Award, the Critic's Circle Award and the Pulitzer Prize, was taken from a diary kept by Anne during the period in the attic.

The key sentence in the play comes from one of Anne's "last observations in her diary. 'In spite of everything, I still believe that people are really good at heart.'"

THE GROUP was discovered shortly before the end of the war and sent to concentration camps. Anne died in a camp at Bergen-Belsen in March 1945.

Tickets are available at the Smith Bldg. ticket office. BYU students can get tickets free with their activity cards.

Court Lists Procedures To Appeal

Car drivers should memorize this new appeals system for traffic violations on campus. Whenever you feel that you definitely are not at fault in an alleged infraction, follow this procedure set up for your benefit.

First, post bond in the Maeser Bldg. for the amount of the fine itself. If you are later found innocent, you will get the money back.

Second, go directly to the judicial room (180) of the Student Services Center and fill out an appeal form. Set up a time with the secretary on duty there to appear before the traffic appeals court, which will probably be on either Wednesday or Thursday.

Third, be on time to this meeting, and present your case in a logical and realistic way. The judges will expect to hear a sensible account from you.

Use this method in all cases of traffic appeal.

The five judges that will be on the court are Laraine Peterson, Fred Ash, Gail Marsh, Martin Wastesen, and Royal Peterson. They hope that this new system will eliminate the type of complaint often voiced against the old faculty court.

Two Faculty Members Receive Danforth Grant

Two Brigham Young University faculty members have been awarded Danforth Teacher Study Grants for study at schools of their choice during the 1961-62 school year.

RECEIVING the grants were Scott S. Hymas, instructor in English, and Jay M. Smith, Jr., instructor in accounting. In addition, Mr. Smith has received a Stanford-Sloan program grant which is co-sponsored by Alfred P. Sloan Ph.D. fellowship program and Stanford University.

Smith will do his graduate work under the Danforth grant at Stanford University during 1961-62. During that same year he will undertake his first year of study under the Sloan fellowship ship.

UNDER THE Sloan fellowship he will have a one-year seminar in all areas of business, followed by a year in the particular area of his interest.

Smith received the B.S. degree at BYU in 1953 and that same year became a Certified Public Accountant. He has been teaching at BYU since 1957.

HYMAS will study at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio, under the Danforth grant. A native of Pelling, Idaho, he received the B.A. degree at BYU in 1953 and the M.A. at Western Reserve in 1958. He has been an instructor at BYU since 1958.

According to Dr. Daniel H. Ludlow, associate professor of religion and representative of the Danforth Foundation, the Danforth is the leading grant in the United States at this time. It is the equivalent of the Rhodes scholarship on an undergraduate level.

DR. LUDLOW also stated that BYU is the leading university in recipients of this grant west of the Mississippi River since the program's inauguration in 1954.

These faculty members have previously studied under Danforth Teacher Study Grants. This year marks the first year that two faculty members been chosen at BYU. Only one other school, Notre Dame University, had two faculty members chosen this year.

IOC President Reminds Units Of Modification

A small number of representatives of campus units were reminded of changes which occurred since last semester's Kline Forsgren, IOC president at the monthly meeting Monday night.

Each unit must now submit a history report to the department, describing its last semester's activities. They should also submit lists of members and officers to IOC.

THIS WILL make records available and enable IOC to more effectively act on units," said Forsgren.

Units should check the point averages of their members and make sure each one is 2.5 or better g.p.a.

ELECTIONS FOR new officers will be held in May. "Now is a good time to be talking about who you would like to have in IOC for next year," Forsgren.

Utah Tons in Figures; Cats 2nd in Offense

Utah and Colorado State continue to dominate the team statistics and Utah's Billy McGill, CSU's Manny Lawrence and New Mexico's Tom King hold individual leaderships as the 1961 Skyline conference basketball campaign reaches its halfway point.

With all the teams except Denver and New Mexico having played seven games, or exactly half of their 14-game league slate, Utah's league-leading Redkins have averaged 85.3 points per game, 15.3 points per game more than seven opponents.

CSU, beaten twice last week to lose the league leadership, is still tops in defense with a stingy average of 57.0 points.

McGILL, the season-long scoring leader, still is far ahead with 250 points per game, as compared to CSU's Bill Green's second-place average of 19.6 points per game. McGill also leads in field goals shooting with an excellent 57.5 average.

LAWRENCE is tops in free throw marksmanship with a 78.2 average and King leads the rebounders with 15.8 take-downs per game.

Brigham Young University is ranked second in offense while holding down fourth place in defensive section.

THE COLGARS are averaging 78.0 points per game, second behind Utah, with a 7.0 point advantage over their opponents per game.

BYU's Gary Earnest with a 19.4 ppg average is third in Skyline figures, behind McGill and Green.
